

GET READY TO MEET

Ben Pelteson

Ben Pelteson is a theater maker and public speaking coach based in Brooklyn, NY. A professional actor for over two decades, he has appeared on major stages across the US and onscreen (Homeland, The Americans, Unforgettable, Law & Order, and StartUp, among others.) Ben is the former National Outreach Director for Broadway Impact, an organization of theater artists and fans mobilized in support of marriage equality, and was co-Curator of the first ever Daedalus Film Fest in Ashland, OR.

He joined the Fearless Communicators team in 2015 and, since then, has supported a global community of executives, entrepreneurs, and thought leaders across all of Fearless' programs and 1:1 training. He has one gigantic houseplant, a monstera named Cathy, who threatens to take over the tri-state area.

BFA in Theatre, Carnegie Mellon University.
